FRENCH SPOLIATIONS.

Result of Procedure of Those Presenting Claims to the Court of Claims.

Each Claim Declared on a Separate Suit, to Be Tried on Its Merits.

Nothing Can Be Put Into Courses Now on Appropriation—Routine of Business.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Many inquiries have been made of the Court of Claims as to the method of procedure in the matter of the French spoliations. A large number of the claims presented to the court have been examined on their merits, many of which have been so decisive unfavorable reports made as to the method of procedure, and the members of the Government to these claims. The court has published no rules for applicants, and will publish none. The course to be followed in the case of each of similar claims. Each claim is declared as a separate suit, and is set down in the order of its entry. The claimants will be required to furnish documentary legal proof, as to the genuineness of the said proofs, one of the most perplexing popular errors appears to exist. The Government will not assume the statements in proving their claims, to the contrary, the Government will be the only representative of the opposition to a statement, but, as it is absolutely the intent of the act that the Government shall not obstruct honest claimants, the court will not antagonize meritorious claims.

Another popular error is as to the character of the testimony which the court will accept to prove claims. Such a tribunal, the rules of evidence in all kinds of claims are to be used. Congress votes an appropriation. The act is to be in the judgments which may be rendered in the French spoliation cases, with the evidence that the court is now required to report a statement of the law and the facts in each case. The Court of Claims, in these cases, acts both as a tribunal and as a master in chancery.

There is no probability that Congress will refuse to vote an appropriation to pay such awards as may be made. Congress never has refused to pass a judgment of the Court of Claims. At one time there was some opposition to a judgment of $1,000,000, the award now being pending. The United States Supreme Court affirmed the award and Congress paid it.

JUDGMENT OF CLAIMANTS.

Nearly 300 French spoliation claims have been docketed and the Judge expects that quite 1,000 will be entered. Every claimant entering suit for losses by such seizures as may be made by the Government in these cases

Ohio Democrats' Association met last Wednesday to take arrangements as to the anticipation of the new election law at the September election. The arrangements will go to the question as to whether the regular Democratic ticket is a "general" election and also to the constitutionality of the act. There is little doubt that Judge Pendergast will order the submission of the law. The Democratic election is a certainty "general" as far as Cook County is concerned, and Judge Pendergast will scarcely care to accept the responsibility of declaring unconstitutional an act of the Legislature which is mandatory upon him. The law was passed in spite of strenuous opposition, and any serious question as to its constitutionality would seriously have defeated it. Constitutional questions can only be determined by decision of the Supreme Court, and there will be ample time to secure such a decision in this case before the next law can go into operation. It is adopted at next November. All the preliminary work, either having been completed with, the County Judge will feel constrained to comply with the terms of the law and have to the Supreme Court the duty of passing on its constitutionality. This will give the people the earliest opportunity of utilizing the law to save its validity to entrust to the Supreme Court, of which there is small doubt.

"BRAINLESS" AND "BRAVE BATES."

The Chicago Democracy seems to be a house divided against itself. There has always been a lack of sympathy between the aristocrats and the workers—the "employing" and "unemployed"—there as elsewhere, but of late there are positive indications of a rupture. Heretofore there has been a sprinkling of aristocracy in the Cook County Democratic Club, which is the Tammany organization, and the Iroquois Club, which represents the best men of the party, has not hesitated to avail itself of the practical work men to which at the "Democratic" of the gang. But the ensemble for Government patronage has widened the breach between the two elements. The gang is disappointed and angered at the strict discrimination of the Administration in respect to claims, and the Iroquois element has come to the conclusion that, with the support of the Administration, it will be strong enough to obtain control and direction of Democratic affairs in Chicago. The resignation of fourteen Police of the Iroquois and Postmaster Judd from the Cook County Democratic Club would seem to have this meaning when the act is taken in connection with other significant circumstances.

It is entirely highly reasonable to Messrs. Phelps, Judd, and other gentlemen of their character to break with the record which has dragged Chicago politics to the mire. The Democratic element in the Cook County Democratic Club in opposition for most of the outrages and enormities which have disgraced Chicago in a political way during the last few years. The municipal ring of the voting precincts under the direction of the Club, the staff, top of the lieutenants under the leadership of Hesing, and the hard-working element in the Common Council under the auspices of certain Democratic officials have all been distinctly approved by the Cook County Democratic Club, and the Celtic, Pilsners, Hungarian, Bohemian, and other respectable elements who vote the Democratic ticket ought to appreciate to the most emphatic manner against their behavior previous. But there are several impediments to the way of the "brainless bats." If they attempt recrimination severing from their "stool-pal" allies.

In the first place, it is extremely doubtful whether the respectables of the Iroquois Club may rely upon the support of the Administration in any effort they may make to secure the Democratic party of Chicago from lowest control. Mr. Cleveland regards the two opposing elements singly as two factions, and will probably endeavor to give his aids so as to avoid the odor on either side. This was the course he took in the fight over the Sanitarium. The gang urged a candidate with such pertinacity and the Iroquois element protested so vigorously that he went counsel of Chicago and Cook County to settle the appointment. The two set the power to him if he desired to strengthen the respectable element of the party. When he made the most appointment it is not unlikely he will hold that one faction has been sufficiently recognized by the appointment of Judd and select some man acceptable to the Cook County Democratic Club. In the next place, the respectable element of the Democratic party could naturally look to carry Chicago at Cook County. The Democratic movement in this city and the county of late years have been attained by gang methods. With a fair vote and honest count Chicago and Cook County are Republican. It is a question, then, whether the "respectables" are sufficiently numerous in their accommodation of the gang to enlist united action that confirms the assertions. That will be the test test of their political respectability.

The second dissension between the two factions of the Cook County Democracy will be regarded with satisfaction by all who hope for improved local government. The fact that the Iroquois element has entered into agreement with respectable Republican citizens with public-spirited and courageous determination to free Chicago from the thralldom of the gang, and that in the event of success the public will not also wish whether the four or the old men shall get engaged—or both.

CONFUSED AT FOUNTAIN.

The session of the Cleveland Administration had a singular effect in stimulating the Irish questionists of every kind in the country. In stumping the great fact in the United States Courts at Washington has made up Judge Gray has compelled to notice the matter and occupy with emphasis that, although the 3.2 amendment had changed, the law in regard to the manufacture of whisky remains the same. Outside the executive circle no one would suppose that Cleveland's administration power would modify the contract several laws, but it seems to have been thought in some quarters that a change of Administration and the appointment of inexperienced officials might afford unusually good opportunities for frauds.

Nothing daunted by failure as to the extent investigations of Cleveland and Postmaster Whitney herein have discovered that work contracted with this hands and distributed long-term in such a manner that they would hold more Democrats than would be shown by the night's testimonials. This of course evinced a suspicion of fraudulent intent, but it is hardly asserted to be nothing more than the result of "bad management." Regarding that fraud was intended, it is still uncertain why were parties to it, and until further investigation is furnished public confidence cannot be visited on any particular person. It will, however, require very strong proof to satisfy the public that no one is guilty and the whole trouble results from "bad management."

It will be noticed that the investigations of Peoria have been conducted by special agents with free outside and nothing was discovered by the Postmaster-General into the matter, although it is to be found that the fight will go on, and the general

The Liberals see that this disclosure of a Carl Rose's skirmish is a set-off for the Charles Smith scandal, out of which the Tories have been making political capital. Following the custom of the Turks, the Liberals are taking pains to spread the story of the Pigott's flogging among the constituents to inspire them with a desire to appear in the House of Commons during the excitement to inspire the Tories with the fear that the Liberals will be elected to Parliament. The Tories are grieved, for by Mr. Pigott's sons all their connection that they have had to appreciate capitals in political connection. Before the meeting of the Central Traffic Association which adjourned in New York yesterday succeeds in performing the principal work which brought your scribe and many others to attend. The Kansas roads cannot be induced to come into the agreement for the maintenance of east-bound rates about a month ago. The Chicago roads have made numerous efforts to secure the maintenance of such rates under the agreement which was then effected, but the general cutting of rates by the lines running east from St. Louis has at last aroused Chicago. It was hoped that a general conference might be arranged, at least until the managers of their meeting had fully considered the situation, but when Mr. Leech came back he got no encouragement to stay the cutting of rates. The latest news is to the effect that the Kansas roads will reduce their rates to-day to the Missouri River, and that the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific will meet the reduction. The Kansas roads are not expected to agree to the maintenance of rates to Chicago, but the Missouri River rate will be maintained. The Chicago roads will not be governed by the action of the Kansas roads, but will meet the reduction. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and Chicago & Northwestern roads have not yet declared their intentions, but it is probable that they will meet the reduction. Owing to a liberal offering of tonnage yesterday grain freights suffer another decline. The rate by sail to Buffalo, Oswego, Ogdensburg and Kingston was reduced to 2 cents per bushel, a like concession being made to Kingston by steam. Prospects are that the rate will be further reduced. Vessels have a plenty from which to select cargoes, and the offerings of tonnage exceed the demand. There is no immediate prospect of a change for the better. How the Rev. Dr. Lorimer Drank Wine Out Ade at Camp-Meeting.

While He Sat on a Log and Sopped It, a Good Brother Kept Watch.

A Safer Place Promises for a Man Who Is a Prohibition Candidate for Governor.

Boston (Aug. 15) Dispatch to Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette: Dr. Lorimer belongs to that peculiar wing of the Prohibition party, or to the "spiritualizing," the "holy," "pure, and impulsive." Several years ago he greatly scandalized a Boston Methodist gathering by taking a glass of spirits as a relief for acute and present gastralgia, and there is yet much comment in Methodist circles on the publication of his temperance lecture in a pamphlet form. His attitude into the political as a candidate for Governor has been apparent to the most other denominations of which he has taken the leadership—the other wing to be in order, to others, that are Methodists even than Republicans rather a sort of the church.

Of late in the world Dr. Lorimer has the right to complain if the common light be passed upon his record and if a comparison be made between his theory and practice.

CAMPING AND DRINKING DURING.

Some time ago not less than two years a great deal of spirit was during Centennial Methodist camp Dr. Lorimer withdrew on account for the health behind the bushes in approaching, while a great brother here before him the morning of the approach of such unpleasant people.

The man who says he brought the ale took it a step morning for Dr. Lorimer and stood upon him Dr. Lorimer drank a spell from the glass excellent of Dr. Lorimer, as a fact, I am not now swearing, and he took me the other day. He is an old citizen of Charlestown, and from the reputation he has among his neighbors here I feel safe in saying that the testimony of the witness is entitled to credit.

THE STORY.

The story as told by Dr. Lorimer's friend is a very simple one.

THE CITY.

PERSONAL.

Gov. John A. Dockery, Missouri, was in the Pacific yesterday.

Capt. George W. Wade and Capt. George S. Post, U. S. A., are at the Leland.

R. D. Anderson, Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner of Iowa, is at the Pacific.

Commissioner Lyon of Hyde Park was home yesterday, and the future looks to him rosy.

Senator Nelson of St. Paul, Minn., passed through the city yesterday, returning to the Pacific.

Dr. John D. Horan, Phelps, Pa.; M. H. King, San Antonio, Tex.; and Dr. H. Bennett, Denver, are at the Sherman.

C. D. Lafferty, New York; Prof. A. C. Burrs, Cincinnati, and J. W. Dougherty, Cincinnati, are at the Victoria.

Gen. J. W. Powell, Chief of the Bureau of Geological Survey, was at the Palmer yesterday. He is on his way to the West.

Judge J. A. Edwards, Darien, O.; the Rev. S. F. Chiles, Providence, R. I.; and Judge George B. Lamb, La Salle, Ill., are at the Palmer.

U. S. Senator H. H. Kohlsaat, of Wisconsin, who is in search of typhoid fever germs, will arrive in this city for the Democratic & Civic Federation love-feasting.

O. H. Moffett, Denver; W. J. Dyer, St. Paul; R. Carlton Sprowles, Portland; George Gutheim, U. S. A.; and Allen Yeaquelen, Paris, France, are at the Palmer.

A. M. Jones, Esq., the former United States Marshal for this district, is now the manager of the Redpath Grand Spring Concert, with headquarters in this city.

Vice-President Hendricks passed through the city yesterday on his way to Waukesha to spend the day. He stopped at the Palmer for a few hours, and took the 5:45 train north, except for that year when Tom Ochiltree, the Texas statesman, was here, and he had to wait over for the Texas train, which arrived at 7:30. The Vice-President went to Waukesha, where his wife has been staying.

IN GENERAL.

The City of Rome left Queenstown at 10 a. m. yesterday with 647 cabin and 411 steerage passengers.

It is understood that some of the members of the South Park Board are thinking of changing the name of Washington to Grant Park.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Assistant Observer Sherman, ranged from 68 degrees at 7 a. m. to 87 degrees at 2 p. m. The highest point reached on the 14th day of August, 1902, was 94 degrees, and the lowest 68 degrees, on the 14th day of August, 1901.

The meeting of Lebanon Commandery (No. 56) at No. 57 West Lake street, last night, W. H. Emery was elected Eminent and Grand Templar; Secretary Hutchinson of Joliet, the recipient of the Knight Templar commandery emblem.

An express wagon driven by Peter Bohan was struck a little last night by a Lake Shore train, at the corner of Superior street and Austin Avenue, crushing the fingers of the right hand and severely bruising the head and body which the wheels passed. He was taken to the patrol house, No. 24 Center street. The horses are not hurt.

There will be an immense gathering next Sunday at Beloit, Wis. The corner-stone of the new St. Thomas Church will be laid with impressive ceremonies by the Most Rev. Archbishop Messmer, Archbishop of Milwaukee, assisted by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Muldoon of Rockford, Ill., and a large delegation of clergymen from Chicago. Archbishop Quigley, Vicar-General Wynne, Chancellor Mahoney, Rev. Thomas J. Kinsella, pastor of St. Thomas's Church of this city, will assist the Archbishop in the ceremonies.

The Executive Board of the Illinois Industrial School for Girls met at the Sherman yesterday. The present membership was organized by the seventy-five (or the school was, as nearly as could be ascertained) to take immediate action with a view to increasing the appropriation. It was suggested that some money from the fines assessed by the police magistrates be contributed for the establishment of a branch for the school, but nothing definite was done in that matter.

C. F. Hunt, or Harry Hunt, as his acquaintances prefer to be, was before Justice Weber yesterday. Two or three witnesses testified that he had attempted to pass himself off as the brother of the Fitzgerald murder if a certain note got into print, and that he had even gone that far with the Tribune reporter. Mr. Hunt, however, was discharged, as it was shown that the note was not published, and that Mr. Hunt, in fact, had not even seen the reporter. He will be prosecuted by County Physician Richards for the.

Of the Chase house case disposed of by Judge Tuthill yesterday only two more of special counsel, Miss Hamill, have been dismissed, and they have an inquiry of the Attorney-General, who has found no basis for the charges. Judge Tuthill will hear the remaining cases, but found no basis for the charges. Judge Tuthill will hear the remaining cases, but found no basis for the charges.
